Taking Measurements

Both the waist and the hips dimensions are required to ensure the best fit. Go first by the hip size closest to the users if in doubt which size to select.

Parafricta

User Guide
For Undergarments

Pressure Ulcer prevention and recovery
Relief from Friction and Shear

Parafricta Ltd

There are three types of Parafricta® undergarment

- Slip-on Boxer Style
- Slip-on Brief Style
- Velcro®-closure Brief Style

Parafricta® undergarments contain a unique low friction fabric and are designed to protect fragile skin on the sacrum, buttocks and hips against damage caused by friction and associated shear

- Help to prevent, and aid in the healing of, pressure ulcers and friction lesions ("bedsores" and "abrasions")
- Aid in the retention of wound dressings by preventing “rucking up”
- Are particularly useful for patients repeatedly slipping down the bed or chair and for wheelchair users
- Are cool and comfortable to wear
- Are easily removable to inspect vulnerable skin
- Can be washed and reused, (see instructions on the care label)

Instructions for use

- Designed for continual wear under clothes or nightwear. May be used in combination with suitable pressure relieving devices such as mattresses, cushions or overlays
- Select the right size and style
- If it is difficult for the user to get the slip-on styles on or off, consider using the Velcro®-closure Brief, which can be opened at the front
- Change to a clean undergarment if there is soiling or according to clinical judgement
- Incontinence pads may be worn with the undergarments

When to use Parafricta® Undergarments

For patients at risk of, or with existing, pressure ulcers, for example

- When there are already early signs of skin breakdown e.g. non-blanching erythema (reddened skin); abrasions; high sub-epidermal moisture
- When patients are dragging skin on the support surface whilst repositioning e.g. using a transfer board from bed to chair
- When patients’ conditions result in chronic repetitive movements or restlessness
- When the dressing over an existing pressure ulcer is frequently displaced
- When there is a particular cause of extreme skin fragility (e.g. in diabetics or at end of life)

Can the undergarments be used for incontinent patients?

Incontinence pads may be worn, but vulnerable skin or dressed wounds should ideally remain in contact with the lining fabric of the undergarment. Pads may be retained, if necessary, with net fixation pants, under the undergarment.

Can the undergarments be worn over dressings?

They can be used to help retain wound dressings by preventing displacement caused by friction ("rucking up").

Are they useful to prevent skin soreness in the groin area?

Skin folds in the groin area are susceptible to dermatitis caused by friction and rubbing together of warm, moist skin which may be reduced by wearing Parafricta® boxer style undergarments.

How can heavy soiling be removed?

Heavily soiled items may be pre-soaked in a solution containing a proprietary oxidising stain remover. All items should be washed with minimal other washing in a hot, 60°C synthetics cycle and air dried.

Professional laundries may use a wash cycle that includes 70°C for 10 minutes (sanitising cycle).
